A European Glue Trust.

The spectre of a gigantic glue trust whost tentacles reached out over Europe and into South America was raised by Charles Delaney, president of the National Association of Glue and Gelatine Manufacturers. Mr. Payne responded.

Protest From Soap Interests William H. Wadhams, representing soap interests, passed a tribute to the great need of laundry soap. He porserved it as a necessity of life and contended that to put the burden of a tariff on the raw materials used in an article that goes into the home of the poor would be unjust.

Mr. Wadhams said the soap industry was subject to highly competitive constitutions and had been bpilit up on a relimination of the output of glue of the continent of the output of glue of the contine

Mr. Dorian wanted sheliac and copal kept on the free list, instead of making them dutiable as proposed by the democrats and he intimated that the effect might be to shift the manufacture of their and he intimated that the effect might be to shift the manufacture of their large export business to their London factory. Mr. Underwood drew from the witness the admission that the graphophone company pays seven per cent. dividends amounting to $70,0000 on a $10,000,000 capitalization, that it carries a bonded indebtedness of more than $1,000,000 and that the suggested duty on these two articles, on which than $1,000,000 and that the suggested duty on these two articles, on which the democrats plan to raise about $300,000 would mean an expense of about $25,000 to $30,000 to his company. Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—Thousands of men were out tonight in an effort to save from further damage by cold weather Southern California's orange and lemon crop, valued at $50,000,000. The loss entailed by last night's freeze cannot b estimated accurately, but it was so serious, growers and citrus experies say, that it will have an appreciable effect upon the price of fruit. The weather bureau predicted for tonight temperatures as low as or lower.

Faits say, that it will have an appreciable effect upon the price of fruit. The weather bureau predicted for tonight temperatures as low as or lower than those which last night shattered the record of 30 years.

Within a radius of 125 miles of Los Angeles, an area which embraces virtually all of the important orange and lemon growing sections, smudge pots by the thousand smouldered, emitting dense clouds of smoke, which it was hoped would raise the temperature within the groves sufficient to prevent further freezing of fruit on the trees.

According to the sales managers of various growers' associations, hardly prore than a tenth of the orange crop has been shipped out. The remainder they assert, will show serious losses.

Suburban trolley lines were more or less demorslized today through the freezing of air brake valves.

Long icicles on fireplugs were objects of curiosity and in Los Angeles and other towns of the orange belt ice formed thickly enough on standing water for children to skate on it.

ing Rechad Pasha's Statement-

London, Jan. 6.—The first stage of the peace negotiations, which is regarded by dipiomats largely as one of pretense on Turkey's part to avoid the appearance of yielding to the demands of the allies without pressure fom the powers, is over now. It is expected that the second stage will soon begin, with the powers acting behind the scenes and pulling the strings which will compel Turkey to concede the bulk of the allies' demands.

Without money, her army inadequate and demoralized, her statesmen realize that Turkey is in no condition to resume hostilities with the slightest chance of success.

Still Clings to Adrianople. At today's sitting of the conference Turkey renounced in favor of the allies her rights in the island of Crete and promised further rectification of the Thracean frontier, but insisted upon the retention of Adrianople. The allies declared that this was not sat-isfactory and suspended the conference.

That does not mean a rupture of the That does not mean a rupture of the negotiations. The conference may be resumed either by Turkey giving notification that she has fresh proposals to submit, or by the allies, on the ground that they have communications to make the Turks. It is generally expected that the work of the conference will be taken up again at the end of the week, when the festivities in connection with the Orthodox Christmas are ended.

the end of the week, when the festivities in connection with the Orthodox Christmas are ended.

Allies Had Prepared Programme.

The allies today held a short meeting before the official sitting and discussed three possibilities with reference to the statement which Rechad Pasha had been asked to make respecting the Balkan ultimatum and agreed on the reply of the allies. First, if Rechad Pasha's statement was arrogant and provocative, then notwithstanding the advice of the powers in favor of moderation they would break off the negotiations; second, if Rechad wase courteous, but the new concessions unimportant, they would suspend the conference; third, if Rechad made important concessions, without absolutely conceding the allies demands they would adjourn the sitting until Friday, in order to allow time to consult their respective governments.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The operations of the clearing house association of Salt Lake City. Utah, in its controversy with the National Copper bank of this city were explained to the money trust investigating committee of the house today. Five Salt Lake City bankers testified.

He said that when the Copper National declined to abide by a rule adopted by the clearing house forbidding banks to pay interest on open or checking accounts, the eight other members of the clearing house dissolved the association and immediately formed a new one with a constitution including the rule to which the Copper National declined to subscribe to the rule or to enter the new association. Mr. Armstrong said that it was costing his bank $25,000 a year extra to operate outside of the clearing house. He asserted that the Salt Lake clearing house rules regulated rates and interest to be charged in practically every transaction between a bank and its clients, and he endeavored to argue that the association was in restraint of trade, usurping the functions of the officers of the banks. Justice Vandeventer announced the opinion of the court. Justice Lurton delivered a dissenting opinion in which Chief Justice White and Justice Holmes concurred. The majority of the court held that the circuit court for southern New York had decided that the indictment charged a "withholding" of the cotton from the market a necessary element of a corner as admitted by the government. The minority held that the circuit court found the indictment did not so charge and for that reason the indictment was faulty. POLICE LOCATE LOOT

New York, Jan. 6.—The arrest today of five men and a woman, according to the police, ended a search of more than a month for the gang of burglars and thieves who have operated throughout the city. The police also announced the discovery of a cache where the stolen goods were hidden. It was a room on the West Side and it was packed from floor to celling, except for a narrow aisle, with costly furs and other valuables, wearing apparel, which, according to police estimate, are valued at $250,000. Here the police arrested James Pritchard, 43 mate, are valued at $250,000. Here the police arrested James Pritchard, 43 years old. Of the others arrested, Percy Wyckoff, 24 years old, and Harry Willis, 28 years old, are charged with a robbery in the St. Andrews hotel, when jewelry valued at $10,000 was taken from the apartment of Miss Prances Barnes. Wyckoff and Willis were employed at the hotel at the time of the robbery.

George Carr, 28, William Maddox, 28.

The changes thus effected revaluations are responsible to the passage of the interstate commerce acts, and particularly the penaltic railroads for fallure to furnish a car for interstate shipments. In this connection the court declared unconstitutional the Minnesota reciprocal demurrage law authorizing the recovery to provide the passage of the interstate commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906, had no power to commerce acts, and particularly the commerce acts.

SURGICAL OPERATION Edward Grimmell Again at Head of Gang of Burglars.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Edward Grimmell, released from Dannemara two years ago on the belief that a sur-gical oteration on his head had cured him of criminal tendencies, was arrested here tonight on a charge of burglary. Three others arrested on the same charge were Harris Grimmell, a brother, Harry Smith and Edward Wolfe. The last two confessed, ac-Wolfe. The last two confessed, according to the police, naming Edward Grimmeli as their leader. In one of the robberies $800 was secured.

The operation on Grimmeli created widespread interest among surgeons and criminologists, who were convinced that it had effected an entire change in the man's mental balance. change in the man's mental balance.
